Free online module that educates sport organizations to work together to achieve excellence in sport programming and administration and developing effective governance practices.

Leadership SIRCuit: new electronic, multi-media publication that will highlight some of the latest and most useful resources in the area of leadership and governance for sport.

BC Hockey Governance Review Committee lead Al Matthews has reviewed the resources and commented: "...there is some very good stuff here. Some I have seen before and others in new formats and other material that was new. In many ways this is something the Executive Committee should see and review to get a better understanding of what we (BC Hockey) are trying to do through the governance review process".
